

Home-Grown Innovators Wanted in China

(msnbc) Creating a new generation of higher-skilled workers is both a means and an end for China's ambitious development plan. With wages rising for low-skilled factory jobs, Chinese leaders say they need to expand the base of higher-paying jobs and create the highly trained work force needed to fill those jobs.